Gardner Talks: Then Confirms His Words

E D GARDNER, national amateur billiard champion, was about to begin play in a short game of 18.2 balkline with a friend at Tim Flynn's the other day. "How's your stroke now?" asked the friend. "Playing better than ever before for this time of year, I believe," responded Gardner. Then they began. Gardner was giving odds of 100 points to 50 points. The friend won the bank and missed the opening shot. Gardner ran 55. The friend then missed a hard shot Gardner had left him. Gardner took his cue in hand again, negotiated a difficult angle shot and ran

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 3 .- The Springfield Y. M. C. A. college football team had the Harvard varsity on the run for fifteen minutes this afternoon and would have scored had it been possessed of a line driving attack to dovetail with its brilliant forward passing game. The visitors were within thirty-five yards of Harvard's goal three times in the first period, but could not score, and then, when Harvard finally did get going, the Springfield boys fumbled badly and this made the way easy for four of the Crimson's later touchdowns. The final score was 44 to 0. the same as Harvard beat Springfield

Bars Speed Derby

COACH WYMARD of Fordham received a sudden jolt yesterday when Capt. Wymard informed him of the faculty's action in disqualifying Speed Derby. This leaves a hole in the varsity's right end. Derby made a great impression in the Maroon varsity owing to his ability to receive a forward pass while running at full speed. His daring defensive work was a bulwark of strength in the Maroon's opposition. No reason was announced for Derby's ban. In Healy, Fordham has a wingman who is a close second to Derby on forward pass plays but needs time to develop the Maroon's aggressive style of smothering the offensive opposition on spread formations. As Healy has been playing end during the last week and showing very promising form, his first real opportunity will come this afternoon against Gallaudet, when the contest will tell whether the Maroon varsity has been weakened or not.

Nothing could stop the Michigan attack. Catlett's open field running was the individual feature. The big veteran fullwhich connected, the three netting eighty yards. The other five attempts at forward passes, made mainly by substitutes, went wide, aithough Staatz caught a pass over the goal line just after the whistle had ended the first half.

Michigan's line was much stronger than against Depauw, but is still weak in spots. Dunne starred at end and made a touchdown on an end back formation. Cochran and Capt. Raynsford played the strongest games on the lines and the Wolverine leader's passing was a decided improvement. Yost was pleased greatly at to-day's showing, as he expects Mount Union and Vanderbilt, the two games next week, to be tough battles. The lineup:

PRINCETON HAS TASK TO DEFEAT BUCKNELL

Forward Pass Fails Often, but One Turns Into Spectacular Touchdown.

FINAL SCORE IS 10 TO 0

PRINCETON, Oct. 3 .- In a football game that was uninteresting with the exception of the final period. Princeton won from Bucknell this afternoon by a score of 10 to 0. Bucknell put up high class football, varying the attack well and being about equal in all departments. Princeon did not play with the same life and snap that has characterized the work before this season, and the only semblance of real attack came in the final quarter, when in three plays the Tigers carried the leather over for a touchdown from the 45 yard line.

the leather over for a touchdown from the 45 yard line.

Princeton's open game tactics did not meet with the same success to-day as last week. She tried fifteen forward passes, but only completed three, while two were intercepted. The passes were accurate, but the receiver's fingers must have been covered with butter for they could not hold the ball. Bucknell did not use the forward pass until the last few minutes, when she uncorked nine of them in rapid fire, four meeting with success. The fifth one fell in the neutral zone behind the Tiger goal and gave Princeton the ball. The Tigers introduced rugby passing to-day and it worked three out of four times, resulting in substantial gains in two instances.

The punting was of a high order. Topham, Driggs and Law booted some beauties. They were straight and far and had sufficient height to give the ends ham, Driggs and Law booted some beau-ties. They were straight and far and had sufficient height to give the ends ample time to cover the runner. The catching of the punts was good, while Glick, Tibbott and Eberstadt did some clever returning of them.

Play was marred by constant fumbling and much of the time it was anybody's ball. Both teams were about equal offenders in this matter, but Bucknell ex-celled at the recovering of them. There were more penalties than last week and Princeton suffered more by five yards

which just cleared the bar. The single Dartmouth's play was sign of a real attack came at the very those who saw the rather beginning of the fourth quarter, when Princeton had the ball on Bucknell's 45 yard line. A forward pass, Eberstadt to Law, netted eighteen yards, and a rugby pass, Law to Boland, added ten more, on the next play Boland shot a long pass field. Topham and Eddy were both ready to receive, and just as Topham put out his arms to intercept it Eddy jumped and had ended the first half.

In addition to Catlett, Splawn, consider the sophomore fullback, starred. Splawn, Catlett, Maulbetsch and Roehm all got two touchdowns apiece. Maulbetsch was used always when a few yards were needed. He never failed. Roehm also starred at half. Hughitt, in addition to his great running back of punts, kicked inine goals from touchdowns. On his other chance, the kickout went wide. Forward passes netted the two first downs made by Case, Capt. Parshall at quarter making the first. He fell across the goal for a touchdown and Law kicked the goal. Glick was at halfback to-day, and Tibble was the played a smashing game. He tore off one run of twenty yards and then followed it up for nine more. He was the most consistent gainer. Law played a strong game. He was cool, ran well on the offensive and was a clean tackler. The line showed little improvement. They charged high and were well taken

De Oro May Beat Inman at Own Game

ALFREDO DE ORO, perennial three cushion and pocket billiards champion, is on the trail of Melbourne Inman, title holder at English billiards. "I saw the first night's play of Inman," said De Oro yesterday, "but noticed nothing in his game that I do not believe I can do with a little practice. I don't know but what I may be able to beat him even up right now. I have played English billiards so few times-and that was so long agothat I really have forgotten how well or how badly I do play it. But I will try myself out on some English table within a few days, and it is entirely possible that I may challenge him in a short time if I find myself all right." Inman is said to believe he can beat De Oro at pocket billiards and arrangements are being made for an exhibition match between
